

Food, Medicine and Tools

Investigate how the Aboriginal people of New South Wales traditionally use various plants for food, medicine and tools.

- Choose one plant to focus on.
- Find as much information as you can, including images, for your chosen plant.
- Prepare a report and share your findings with others.

Click here to view the web link.

Ficus rubiginosa, also known as
Port Jackson Fig or Rusty Fig